BIOGRAPHY

Tommy Chaffee and CJ Torrise are The Porch Pistols. Tommy and CJ are high school buddies, who unknown to each other, moved to California and practiced their arts in the Los Angeles area. They reconnected back in New Jersey. One day in the studio, CJ picked up the acoustic guitar, and Tommy started improvising with vocals and harmonica. The Porch Pistols were born.

PAST ACCOMPLISHMENTS

While living in New Jersey, Tommy started Tommy Chaffee and the Saturnalia. He took the act to Los Angeles, where he opened for Steely Dan. Tommy also played many of the popular clubs on the Westside and the famed Sunset Strip, although highlights included playing at the Los Angeles Mission and the infamous Skid Row. CJ played and studied music theory with Ted Greene.

CURRENT EVENTS

The Porch Pistols are gigging in support of their 2nd independent release My Blue Jeans on Honking Donkey Records, which is available at CDBABY™, iTunes™, and other distribution outlets. Climb and Miss Me Too have been made available as free iTunes™ releases.

The Porch Pistols have showcased at the world famous bluegrass/old country venue Albert Hall in New Jersey, the grand opening of the TRACx81 Art Gallery, the first ever open mic night at the 100-year old Ocean County Artists Guild, and hosted the first ever Improv in the Park at Berkeley Island Park.

The Porch Pistols will officially release their 2nd album My Blue Jeans on February 8th at a public release party at the Shark Fin Inn in Forked River, NJ at 3:00 PM, including a live performance by the band.
